CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

According to current research, most graduate programs or post-masters certificates in nursing education prepare educators for only 4 of the 8 NLN Competencies for the Academic Nurse Educator. This conference addresses all 8 competencies and provides the essential knowledge needed to pass the CNE® examination. Participants will have the opportunity to apply this knowledge in over 100 test questions during this two-day session, and learn test-taking tips and strategies for success from a leading, internationally recognized expert in nursing education.

CONFERENCE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Based on the NLN Competencies for the Academic Nurse Educator, conference attendees will be better able to:

- Identify selected teaching/learning activities based on adult learning preferences and related educational theories. (I, II)
- Describe common assessment and evaluation strategies and methods that are appropriate for nursing education. (III)
- Articulate how to develop or revise curriculum, including course development, and plan for program assessment to promote continuous quality improvement. (IV)
- Discuss the role of the nurse educator in scholarship, service, leadership, and self-improvement. (V-VIII)
